Training Output:

From the training which took place in Stockholm, Sweden between 14.10.2019-18.10.2019, participants of our university (UTECA) including Vice-Rector for Academic Affairs and Director of Quality Assurance Department learned that what is CDIO and how to make sure that all programs are compliance with these CDIO Standards. Additionally, the importance of sustainable development and its integration to the learning outcomes of study programs was thought during conference. Various teaching tricks and different methods to organize and involve all students to the group discussion were debated. Different experiences from various countries such as China, Japan, Argentina and Chile were shared, and quality assurance and knowledge assessment system of KTH were presented from different aspects. Lots of workshops were done during session and presented to other groups.

Evaluation of Agenda:

The Agenda was compact and everything was taken into consideration for better training, especially delicious refreshments. However, I hope it would be better not to hold long sessions after lunch. Additionally, It would be better to get in touch individually instead of group session.

Evaluation of Trainers:

All trainers did their bests to cover all topics which had been given agenda. Topics such as CDIO, Knowledge assessment system, Teaching Tricks, Group Work, Workshops were done successfully. The only negative side is more workshops with comparison to other trainings. It would be better to get more theoretical knowledge and then practical sessions.

Evaluation of Management

Although less people attended in Sweden training with comparison to other trainings, all staff was coordinated and managed very well by the Coordinator University, Baku Business University. The only negative side is complex metro station to get to the university.
